

National Wildland Fire Program

GSA recognizes that many state and local governments routinely need resources and assistance to protect life and property from wildland fires.

By working in partnership with the U.S. Forest Service, GSA Global Supply™ can help by offering a wide range of firefighting products to help support this critical mission. GSA has furnished wildland fire protection equipment and supplies to state, local, federal and U.S. Forest Service cooperating agencies via this special program for over 20 years.

Currently, GSA stocks approximately 250 wildland fire items, including:

- Water handling equipment
- Fire line tools
- Fire shelters
- Protective clothing
- Canteens
- Field packs
- Sleeping bags
- Batteries and supplies
- Chainsaw chaps
- First aid kits
- Goggles and safety glasses
- Gloves

State and local organizations wishing to purchase Wildland Fire Equipment from GSA must first enter into a cooperative agreement with their respective State Forester thereby obtaining "sponsorship." It is the decision of the State Forester and ultimately the U.S. Forest Service to grant sponsorship to the requesting organization. The cooperative agreement and sponsorship must be approved prior to assignment of an Activity Address Code. Once the Activity Address Code is requested by the U.S. Forest Service and assigned by GSA, the state or local customer is then authorized to buy directly from GSA.

The first step in the process of obtaining a cooperative agreement is to contact your state Federal Excess Personal Property (FEPP) program coordinator. A listing of these contacts can be found at: www.fs.fed.us/fire/partners/fepp.

GSA State and Local Resources

The wealth of GSA's resources is not limited to federal agencies alone. Many state and local agencies can benefit from a variety of commercial products and services offered through GSA vehicles. This important aspect of GSA's mission is divided into seven distinct programs that provide access to important tools to help meet specific state and local objectives.
